

The Package and the Field

There is a dead man in the center of a field. He carried with him an unopened package. As he neared the center of the field, he knew he was going to die. How did he know he was going to die?

Scroll down for answer

The man's parachute did not open!